BEGIN TO VOTE EARLY

Make an Early Start in the Great Pan-American Contest.

The First Votes Printed Today on Page Two of The Herald.

A Splendid Inducement for Those Who Are Hostlers and Who Will Work to Win the Prizes.

The first vote for use in the Herald's Pan-American contest are printed today. The vote will be found on page 2 and will be printed in every issue of the Herald until the contest closes next June.

Those who intend to enter the contest to win should enter their names in the list as early as possible. Let the people know that you intend to go to Buffalo on this splendid trip, free of expense on your part, and the readers of the Herald who are your friends will save their votes for you.

There are likely to be many contestants at the start. The Herald has answered many personal inquiries in regard to the contest during the past week and the list of names that will appear very soon in the matter will be a prominent one.

The Herald liberally modifies the offer by adding that a suitable gift will be awarded to the boy and girl sending in the most votes for any of the contestants. It may even send one of them to the exposition. Any worthy effort will be acknowledged to the satisfaction of those making it, they may feel assured.

The offer of the Herald has been printed every evening during the past week and even more notice has been taken of it than was expected would be the case, at first. But the more the proposition is considered, the more the value of the offer is appreciated. The contest that is opened today is under the following restrictions:

The Portsmouth Herald agrees to send three residents of Portsmouth, who are either members of the Portsmouth fire department, a social club or of some secret society, to the Pan-American exposition, pay all their expenses from the time they leave, until they return, including a week in Buffalo, with board and lodging and admission to the exposition daily.

This offer beats anything ever announced by any newspaper in New England, and is so far above the expense and interest of a trip to the national inauguration that it cannot be mentioned in the same class.

The contest will not be restricted to gentlemen but will be open to any lady who is a member of the various secret societies or auxiliary societies in Portsmouth.

The trip will include stop over privileges en route and returning and first class accommodations will be provided. In order that every detail of the grand tour may be properly looked after, the publishers will either send an agent in advance or with the party to make arrangements.

Everybody knows that the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo is to be grander and greater in every way than the World's fair and the visit will be the event of a lifetime.

The contest opens today, Monday, March 4, when the first ballot appears and which will appear daily until June 1, next, the last ballot to appear on the latter date, and the three persons having the greatest number of votes will have the grand privilege that has been offered. The last ballots must be received at the Herald office by 7.30 p. m., on Wednesday June 5, and the results of the contest will be announced at the earliest possible date.

This is an opportunity never before equalled in this section of the country and well worth the attention of everyone eligible for such a trip. Vote early and vote often. Elect yourself.

IN THE LEGISLATURE.

What Has Been Done and What Remains to be Finished.

The persistent work in both branches of the legislature made a very marked showing in the summary of the work of the session as compared with the condition at the beginning thereof. The number of measures killed in the house was increased from 123 to 164; the number passed by the house from 163 to 192, while the number that had passed both houses gained from 97 to 140, but 26 of the latter have not yet been engrossed. In other words, during last week the house killed 41 measures proposed for legislation and passed 22. The number in the hands of committees was reduced from 134 to 124, a net gain of 60. There are now 171 for the house to dispose of finally, besides what may come to it from the senate where a week ago, it had 208. Eight measures that originated in the senate were received by the lower branch last week.

The total number of bills and resolutions originating in the house now number 490, a gain of 20 during the week; add to this the total of 37 measures received from the senate and we have 527 as the whole number now on the house docket; 278 of these have been finally disposed of, 164 killed, 114 engrossed. Of the 249 remaining, 26 have passed both house and senate and 52 more have passed the house and await the action of the senate. Of the 47 measures between the house committees and final disposition in the house, 37 have been tabled to be printed and will be in order for treatment next Tuesday; 6 are on the table on motion of members; 2 are special orders for next Tuesday; 1 stands as unfinished business and 1 has been ordered to a second reading.

Of the remaining 124, there are: 115 in the hands of regular committees, as follows: Judiciary, 40; fisheries and game, 23; railroads, 16; revision of statutes, 8; appropriations, 7; roads, bridges and canals, 5; incorporations, 4, education, 3.

One in the hands of each of the following committees: Public health, agriculture, labor, forestry, state library, liquor laws, state prison, public improvement, Soldiers' home.

In the hands of a committee of conference, 1; of special committees, 8, as follows: Concord delegation, 3; and 1 in each of the following committees: Nashua delegation, Keene delegation, Dover delegation, Hillsborough county delegation, Belknap county delegation.

FOR A SECOND TERM.

Mayor McIntire Choice Of The Republican Caucus.

His Renomination Had Been Anticipated By The Community.

It Is Equivalent To His Re-Election At The Polls Next Week.

The republican mayoralty caucus was held in the old county court house on Saturday afternoon and evening, and the expected happened in the nomination of Mayor Edward E. McIntire for a second term. His honor has acquitted himself to the satisfaction of the community during the year that he has been in office, and his nomination was a foregone conclusion.

There was not the slightest opposition to him. It was an unanimous action, the 510 votes all being cast for the mayor.

The caucus, (which was largely attended, considering the absence of any issue to excite interest,) was presided over by Judge Samuel W. Emery, chairman of the republican city committee. The balloting opened at five o'clock and was over at eight.

Mayor McIntire was notified of his renomination by a committee consisting of City Marshal Thomas Edwistle, City Solicitor S. Peter Emery and Leslie Norman, who brought his honor to the caucus room.

The mayor's speech of acknowledgment was brief and appropriate. He thanked the caucus for honoring him with a second nomination and said that he should try his best to administer the affairs of the city in a wise and conservative manner.

His remarks were received with a round of cheers that were hearty and prolonged.

This renomination of Mayor McIntire is equivalent to his re-election on Tuesday of next week. It is conceded by democrats generally, and has been ever since the municipal election came to the front for discussion.

STRATHAM MAN KILLED.

Loring Thompson Had His Neck Broken, Near The Willows.

Loring Thompson of Stratham was killed near the Willows (about three miles from Portsmouth on the Greenland road,) Saturday afternoon, while returning home from this city with a load of pressed hay. He fell from the team as it was jouncing along over the rough highway and the wheels passed over his neck, breaking it. One finger was also crushed.

The body was found about five o'clock by Bartholomew Flynn of this city, as he was driving into town from Greenland. Flynn notified the police and Assistant Marshal West, accompanied by Undertaker H. W. Nickerson, at once went out.

The body was brought to this city and prepared for burial. Thompson had come to Portsmouth in the morning after his hay and started to return home late in the afternoon. He was about fifty years of age and leaves a family of eight daughters.

ALL NOW READY.

Preparations For The Inauguration Completed.

Washington Crowded With Troops, Societies And Other Visitors.

The Weather Bureau Predicts Fine Day For The Event.

WASHINGTON, Mar. 3.—When the sun set on the national capital today, everything that human effort could do to make the second McKinley inauguration a success had been done. A majority of the troops and organizations were already here and safely quartered. Other thousands on the railroads are hurrying toward Washington tonight. The weather bureau predicts fair weather for inauguration day, in a special bulletin. Inauguration eve has been crowded, but orderly and quiet. Every street in the down town section has been thronged. The churches had open doors and were crowded at every service. Many of the visitors were in uniform, reminding old residents of war time. The theatres have vied with the churches in keeping open house and have been well patronized. There has been little sign of drunkenness today or this evening. All day visitors have swarmed about the capitol building, where the legislators are still at work. Tomorrow all doors will be closed, except to the holders of admission tickets. The final estimate of the size of the inauguration pageant, as given out at military headquarters tonight, is as follows: military, volunteer and regular troops, 22,240; veteran organizations, 1300; civic societies, 7800. At the White house, it has been an uneventful day. The building was closed to visitors, and but for the call from Governor Theodore Roosevelt, within doors it would not have been noticeably different from other days.

DOINGS IN CHINA.

Japan's Plans.

LONDON, March 4, 2:00 A. M.—The Japanese have decided to withdraw their troops during March (says the Pekin correspondent of the Post) and to replace them with two thousand fresh soldiers, five hundred of whom are to be stationed in Pekin. As the divergence in the attitude of the powers continues, the Chinese imagine there is discord. Li Hung Chang has sent two mandarins to inspect the route between Pekin and Shan Si and prepare for the return of the court.

Preparing To Depart.

PEKIN, March 8.—The American preparations for departure from Pekin are being pushed rapidly forward. All the supplies except enough for two companies have been packed and tagged for Manila.

DEMOCRATIC WARD CAUCUSES.

IN CONGRESS.

Agree On River And Harbor Bill.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—At four o'clock this afternoon the conferees in the senate and house agreed on the river and harbor bill, covering three hundred disputed points, except on the senate's amendment for a storage reservoir in South Dakota and Wyoming and the amendment providing for the expenditure of $400,000 on the Brazos river in Texas. With these eliminated, the bill, as agreed upon, carries a budget of $49,675,000.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—After a spirited debate the senate this afternoon agreed to the conference report on the naval appropriation bill, receding from the one contested provision for the construction of three additional Holland submarine torpedo boats. The report on the general deficiency bill was also accepted, without comment.

House.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—The house was in session today from two o'clock this afternoon until eight o'clock this evening, to dispose of the conference reports which came crowding in. There was a high tension and only a spark was needed to create a scene; but no sensational incidents had occurred up to midnight.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

WASHINGTON, March 3.—Forecast for New England: Occasional rains Monday afternoon, with northwest gales; Tuesday fair.

TICKET SELECTED FOR WARD TWO.

The ward two republican committee met on Saturday evening, for the purpose of nominating a ticket to be supported at the caucuses this evening, and to the surprise of the present members of the city government from that ward an entirely new ticket with few exceptions was selected and as a result two tickets will be in the field at the caucuses. The present aldermen and councilmen are indignant as they had served but one year and expected to be renominated. They claim they have done their full duty and that there was no reason for their being turned down. The ward committee selected the following ticket:

Aldermen—Albert C. Anderson, Willie F. Weeks, Charles W. Brewster; Councilmen—John Goodall, Willis Kiernan, W. E. Drake, Dr. S. F. A. Pickering, F. D. Lewis, Charles Smith; Overseer of Poor—Edward Downs; Assessors—Warren Webster, Simon R. Marston, Joseph H. Gardiner.

BASKET BALL.

There was great basket ball sport in Peirce hall on Saturday evening and a good crowd witnessed three fast games. The Delaponts defeated the Warner team, twenty-six to twenty-two; Company B won from the Maplewoods, by a score of twelve to three; and the Woods Brothers rubbed it into the Unities, thirty-one to two. The first two games were the first in the new league series. The Woods Brothers have not entered the new league and only played an exhibition game with the Unities.

WAS IT GOOD JUDGMENT?

Whether the republican committee of ward two acted in the best interests of the party in turning down the present members of the city government from that ward with but one year is questioned. The Herald has not heard of any complaints against their conduct and it is unfortunate that a split has been made. It is stated that a contest will take place in the caucuses this evening and both sides should enter with the determination of settling all differences there.

of his residence, and sailors leave from it to the house. There will be stoves in different parts of the stand, and at one end there is a well fitted out bar from which waiters will serve the senators guests with cold drinks if they want them. A luncheon will also be served on the stand, brought from the senator's residence.

Washington is rapidly filling with visitors in anticipation of the ceremonies at the inauguration. The estimate of the chairman of arrangements is that there will be 120,000 strangers in town by Sunday night, which is a small crowd in a city of Washington size.

Among the most picturesque uniforms now in the city are those of the sailors from the warships and the training ships which have been ordered here by Secretary Long. The general committee has found these uniforms of greatest service in draping the stands and climbing to high places in the capitol, where Old Glory is to fly on Monday.

Grand Marshal Greene has appointed Rev. Dr. Van De Water a military aide-camp on his staff. Dr. Van De Water will parade in the full dress uniform of a chaplain and captain of United States volunteers.

Roosevelt Off For Washington.
New York, March 2.—Vice President Elect Roosevelt and his wife and six children have left Oyster Bay en route to Washington. They will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robinson. In Washington the party will be the guests of Lieutenant Commander and Mrs. W. F. Cowles. Mrs. Cowles and Mrs. Robinson are sisters of Mr. Roosevelt.

The Marselleses Strike.
Marselles, March 2.—The strike of dock laborers continues. Gondarns are patrolling the docks. Thus far there has been no disorder. Several vessels will go to St. Louis, on the Rhone, to unload cargo. Others will be obliged to sail without cargoes at all with only passengers and mails.

A Lynching In Missouri.
Camden, Mo., March 2.—Dew Smith, a negro miner, who shot and killed Chester Stanley, a white miner at mine No. 4, four miles south of Emond, Mo., was captured by a mob. He was taken back to the scene of the crime and lynched.

THE DOOM OF MAN.

There is consternation among mankind. We are doomed. The Carrie Nations are abroad. To the judge who sent the Kansas hatchet enthusiast to jail has come this graphic notice of hostilities:

We now propose, if Mrs. Nation is held longer, to raise the greatest army of women the world has ever known and wipe man out of the earth.

As Mrs. Nation is still penned up, the day of wrath is surely at hand. Man has suffered many terrible things since his fig-leaf days. Scared cheeks, sightless eyes and scarred shins testify that he has met the woman with the acid bottle; the woman with the hapin; the woman with the raised umbrella, who rushes blindly about like an evil spirit, seeking whom she may geuge; and the woman who makes of her baby carriage a battering ram in a crowd. But an army of Amazons armed with hatchets! Primitive weapons? Yes; but wielded by the stalwart Sarahs and Abigails of this century, what ominous possibilities they present!

When Adam lost his commission as gardener in Eden and was sent out on the trudge, his consort had to throw down her watering pot and tag along, too; but now the new Eve is to do all the driving, and poor Adam of 1901 must go it alone as an outcast—banished from his seat in the eel pot and his proud position on the band wagon.

Some of us are not very bad fellows. We don't inhale cigarette vapor and turn ourselves into fire eaters; we never chew tobacco; we are not given to blowing the smoke of a hemp cigar into fair woman's face; we are careful to never tread on her train; we forbear from any unkind remark when we watch her trying to drive a nail or shoe a nimble hen out of a flower patch; we believe in letting women vote, chop wood and exercise other masculine prerogatives. But we are all branded to flee, or get the blade.

It would be interesting to anticipate the conditions after this mob of screeching women has swept through the land, leaving in their wake divers swallow-tail coats, latch keys, poker decks and other impediments hastily discarded by the scamping men; but it would be frivolous to take our minds from the danger that impends. It is no joke—no vision of a summer siesta.

The Carrie Nations have banded together. They have no use for man. He encumbers the earth. He spoils the scenery. The cogs of the globe will not squeak so much without his weight. So he must lie himself into space, to find refuge on some cloud and hobnob with creatures that have wings and beaks. The hatchets are just from the grindstones. They are uplifted on high. Eve has uttered her whoop of war and with blood in her eye and thunder in her throat, she starts on a raid that will make the rampages of old Nero look like pale ink. Adam hears the coming storm and with his fingers in his ears and his heart in his mouth, he takes to the woods on the jump.

An alarm clock ought to be a part of the equipment of the Pacific coast guards.

The Herald's Prize Contest
To the Two Most Popular Boys or Girls of Kittery, Maine.

When filled out send to VOTING DEPARTMENT, PORTSMOUTH HERALD.

It appears, from the Rio de Janeiro disaster.

The second installment of the empire begins today. Long live the empire.

A woman appeared before a New York police judge and wanted an injunction to prevent the inauguration today of President McKinley and was looked up for an examination as to her sanity. A man who is now a Kansas City editor wanted to do practically the same thing twice before.

The traveling men of the country are very much interested in the Pan-American exposition and particularly in their great convention on July 11. Many of them, particularly those from Buffalo, when registering at hotels all over the country write "Buffalo, 1901," on the register as naturally as though it were a part of their names. This has the effect of announcing the presence in the hotels of someone who is posted upon the Pan-American exposition and ready to impart to any inquirer information upon that subject.

There is still a lot of money hidden away for the man with the pick. The "Engineering and Mining Journal" reports that in the month of February fifty-eight mining and metallurgical companies in the United States paid dividends aggregating $7,213,043, a satisfactory showing, considering that many companies had made heavy payments in the month of January. The distribution of dividends last month were made by thirty-nine gold, silver, lead, zinc and copper mines, which paid out $2,905,918; five oil and steel companies, with $3,127,081; six petroleum and natural gas companies, with $480,758; four coal mining companies, with $336,782; and four other companies, with $218,504. In the metal list the copper companies paid the largest dividends, the Boston and Montana company alone paying $1,500,000. In the steel and iron group the Federal Steel company was the leading dividend payer, with $2,324,215. From reports received it is predicted there will be many more new dividend-paying companies before the close of the year. The developments at the mines are promising, and the market values of metals well maintained.

It is plain to every observer that the reply from the constitutional convention in Havana to the proposals from Washington with respect to the future relations between the United States and the Cubans is unsatisfactory, says the New York Mail and Express. It ignores the stipulation that this government shall have the right to intervene for the preservation of Cuban independence; it ignores the proposition that the United States shall be permitted to establish naval stations at certain points on the Cuban coast, and it is absolutely silent as to the condition that the Isle of Pines shall not be included within the constitutional boundaries of Cuba, and that the title thereto shall be left to future adjustment by treaty. These proposals form the very foundation of the American position. They are pre-requisites to any permanent agreement between the two republics, and in ignoring them the convention in Havana has not only failed to satisfy the American people, but has rendered a continuance of present conditions in the island almost unavoidable. The one point which has been made perfectly clear is that our government has declared itself frankly and firmly, and that the Cubans must try again.

AN HONORABLE SERVICE.

Hon. Thomas Leavitt of Exeter will retire next year from the office of judge of probate for Rockingham county. Although this law is a good one in the majority of cases, yet it works unfortunately in Judge Leavitt's case, for he never was more strongly in possession of his faculties than he is today, and his fine record in the position would undoubtedly be maintained for years longer. Judge Leavitt is the oldest of the New Hampshire probate judges, his appointment dating back to 1876. He has been conspicuously upright and able, and there is no better authority than he on probate law in the state. —Somersworth Free Press.

Interesting Story of a Germ.

How It Destroys the Health by Corroding the Tissues of the Head, Ears, Lungs, or Stomach, and How It May be Avoided.

Conveyed from a Diseased Person to a Healthy One.

This accounts for the prevalence of the disease. Whole families sometimes have it. Some may escape for a long time, or are not susceptible to the poison.

The nose and throat are the first locations of the malady. Everyone is familiar with the disagreeable nature of it. After a time it extends to the ears, blocking them up, causing snapping sounds, deafness, noises or discharge. Or it may attack the lungs, where it will give rise to all

A large proportion of those unhappy individuals who are continually coughing, laying off their stomach, liver or bowels, really have chronic catarrh of those organs, and if they were treated by a specialist on the subject they would recover.

Bright's Disease of the Kidneys begins as a catarrhal inflammation of the lining membrane, and if taken in that stage is curable. These are facts of vital importance and everyone should know the Dangers of Catarrh. In the large cities hospitals are devoted to these special diseases. BRIGHT MOMENT IN A BOY'S LIFE.

Ample Repaid by a Smile For His Own Kindness.

Two girls attired in their matinee costumes were hurrying eastward for their car. They were both under one umbrella and were talking eagerly and both at once. One of them in pulling her handkerchief from her shopping bag tumbled a big square letter out on to the muddy pavement. She did not notice her loss, but a small newsboy did. He was selling a paper at the time, but he left his customer instantly, swooped down on the letter and scampered at the top of his speed after the girls.

"Hi, lady!" he called. "You've dropped something."

The girl in the dark blue costume who carried the shopping bag and the boy held out the letter, but suddenly noticing that it was muddy, he drew it quickly back and wiped it carefully on the inside of his ragged little jacket, then he let the girl have it.

If the man who wrote the bold super-scription on the muddy envelope ever got a sweeter smile from the girl in blue than she bestowed on the little newsboy, he is to be envied.

"Thank you, very much," she said. "I'm very much obliged to you."

The boy grinned broadly and sheepishly made a fumbling attempt on the peak of his cap and backed off until he collided with another youngster who had been looking cynically on.

"Try to make a man!" asked the cynic, between puffs of a cigarette and. "Don't do the deed!" How much did she give her, Brassy?"

No Wonder Jim Went.

An excited middle aged lady bounded into the local police station the other day and accused the inspector on duty.

"Where's my Jim?" she demanded. "Bag pardon, madam—dog, I presume!" said the officer.

"Don't you dare to presume nothing of the kind," snapped the lady. "Dog indeed! No, sir, husband—my husband. He's missing—disappeared, decomposed!"

"You don't say so!"

"But I'd have you to understand that I do say so, young man. How dare you sit there and flatly contradict a respectable lady?"

"My dear madam!"

"How dare you call me your dear madam! Do you think I come here to be insulted? I tell you my husband has disappeared, and you sit there like a dummy! What do you think of that?"

THE STORY OF A MODEL.
He Posed For One Picture and Lifted a Farm Mortgage.
Had it not been for a mortgage on a Missouri homestead the world would never have seen Astley D. M. Cooper's wonderful painting, "Tribute." There must have been a painting of that subject by the same artist, but it could never have been the masterpiece the present painting is. It was that mortgage that gave Mr. Cooper his beautiful model.

Some years ago this young woman was living the happy life of a country girl on her wealthy father's farm in western Missouri. She grew up wild and free, unrestrained in spirits and form, living very close to nature. No corsets ever encircled her waist and no tight shoes distorted her feet. She grew to womanhood an unfettered child of nature, beautiful in face and form. Then came misfortune for her father. The grasshoppers devastated his fields, and he was compelled to mortgage the homestead. The father sickened and and leaving his wife and daughter without resources and with no means of home. They went to Kansas City, where the mother secured employment as a cashier in a department store and the daughter as cloak model in the same establishment. Their common purpose was to save money enough to pay off the mortgage on the homestead. As they came and went to and from their work they attracted attention, and soon all eyes were upon them. The young woman soon became known as the "Living Venus," and as such was known to many people who knew nothing of her life.

At this time an artist friend, who lived in Kansas City, wrote to Mr. Cooper that he had seen the woman of goddesslike form who alone would serve for a model for a perfect Tritib, knowing that Cooper was searching for such a model. The artist went posthaste to Kansas City. He managed to secure an introduction to the beautiful girl, and with all possible

The artist went posthaste to Kansas City. He managed to secure an introduction to the beautiful girl, and with all possible tact suggested his purpose. He indignantly refused his offer, but Cooper was so impressed with her beauty that he would not be content with a refusal. He argued with the mother, persuaded her and promised a price that would raise the mortgage and endeavored to show the daughter that there need be no sacrifice of her maidenly modesty. He told her that her mother could go with her and be with her all the time she was posing. Finally she yielded. At Cooper's beautiful home in San Jose, Cal., during the following four months, she was the sole model and furnished the inspiration for this great picture. When the picture was completed, both mother and daughter returned to Kansas City, where the daughter was soon married.—Washington Post.

THE BEST MAN.

How He Comes to Have a Part in the Marriage Ceremony.

Under the title "When a Maid's Married" Frederick Boyd Stevenson in The Woman's Home Companion traces the origin of some of our marriage customs back to the days of primitive man.

"While we smile at the wide-spread propensity of the more or less savage nations to cherish as our dearest form a custom that had its direct origin in this very selfsame practice. The 'best man,' who plays so important a part in well-regulated marriages that nowadays have any pretense at all to the fashionable, once on a time in Sweden occupied the position of a useful as well as a necessary person. For old days the Swedish bridegroom was, in fact, to have the bride to defend him from the attacks of his bride and prevent them from eloping.

The Scandinavian warrior of ancient times was far too lofty in his ideas to condescend to plead for a maiden's hand. So he patiently waited until some other man who was more gallant had obtained the fair one's consent. Then, when all the details had been nicely arranged, the proud warrior, with a body of well trained retainers, dashed down on the wedding party and, if strong enough, carried away the bride. The 'best men' and it was very essential that they should be the best men in those days—therefore became necessary fixtures to the marriage ceremony, and they were so well esteemed and their popularity became so permanent that when the reason for their existence was removed they were still retained. Hence the custom is preserved in the 'best man' of today."

Curious Relic of Washington.
Mrs. Helen Struthers Dunn of Philadelphia is the owner of a curious old relic. There are scores of people in the United States who would give much money to own that piece of redwood which has been so carefully polished and set in gold. It came to Mrs. Daulton through John Struthers, who gave the United States the marble sarcophagus in which Washington's body now rests. Mr. Struthers was well known as a dealer in marble. His offer of a marble sarcophagus was made to John Lawrence, the only surviving member of Washington's family, who replied that Mr. Struthers had tendered the gift with so much delicacy and tact that it could not be refused.

When the coffin containing Washington's remains was being removed to its new resting place at Mount Vernon, a piece of it was shipped off. From a small portion the sarcophagus was made. It is itself in the shape of a coffin—a crow's-nose suggestion for an ornament, but it has never been worn. It rests in its little case, side by side with the travel which was used to cement the sarcophagus.—Boston Transcript.

Stamped Cleopatra.

A Worcester man tells The Gazette of that city that when visiting the British museum some time ago he stuck a postage stamp on the mummy case of Cleopatra. "I was all alone," he says. "No one was looking, and I stood there gazing at the mummy case and thinking over the stories when I saw a fly buzz over the stamp, and I put the postage stamp. I could not help it. The thought of the mummy thousands of years old and the brand new one of the brand new country was too much for me. I hastily whispered in the ear of the fly, 'Why is this stamp like Antony and Cleopatra?' Because it's stuck on it," he said on the case and started out to the museum as quickly as possible.

Diminished With Age.

"Wily, grandpa, you used to say that you killed six Indians with one shot. Then you cut it down to five; now you say it was four."

"Well, well, my child, I suppose that's because my memory's failin' a little every year."—Brooklyn Life.

SPORTING NOTES.

After a hard struggle for life the Maine roller polo league has at last given up the ghost.

The chances for a first class base ball team in Portsmouth next summer appear to be excellent.

Dartmouth's victory over the Williams basket ball team Friday evening gives the New Hampshire team a good show for the intercollegiate championship.

Interest in the noble sport of prize fighting appears to be diminishing. It is a healthy sign, and all true sportsmen will welcome the day when the brawler goes out of existence.

Probably the most one sided basket ball game ever played was pulled off in Lynn, the other evening, when the Lynn Classical High school team defeated Brighton High, 80 to 1.

Yale is taking heroic measures to purge all athletic teams representing the university of every suspicion of professionalism, and the other prominent colleges propose to follow this excellent example.

Portsmouth basket ball teams have come rapidly to the front, this winter and now rank among the best in the state. But one team, Dartmouth, now stands between Portsmouth and the state championship.

Portsmouth has the material to make up one of the fastest base ball teams in this section, and it is to be hoped that the crank will wake up next season, and give base ball lovers an opportunity to see some first class games.

Charges of professionalism have frequently been brought against the athletic teams of Columbia University, and the New York college, although not denying past offences, is determined to live down its unpleasant reputation.

BEGINS HIS SECOND TERM

McKinley and Roosevelt Take the Oaths of Offices.

Ceremonies Were Most Impressive and Full of Interest.

Weather Was Very Favorable for the Grand Event.

(Special to the Herald)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 4.—William McKinley, of Ohio, today was inducted into the presidential office, being the eighth in the illustrious line of presidents of the United States thus honored by the American people with a second and consecutive term. Simultaneously, Theodore Roosevelt, of New York, became vice president.

The ceremony that marked this second assumption by President McKinley of the cares of state was most impressive and full of suggestion of the development of the republic during the past four years.

The weather was very favorable for the occasion. The civil and military parade was of the most gigantic proportions, the military feature being predominant.

TIMELY DISCOVERY.

Railroad Man Found Head of a Nut Cut Off.

A section man on the Eastern division of the Boston & Maine railroad made a timely discovery Sunday afternoon near Goulds Crossing at Eliot. He was walking along the track when he discovered that the head of a nut holding a rail had been cut off.

The afternoon passenger train from Portland due in this city at 2:11 was about due, and this was signalled and held until the track had been repaired. The train was about thirty minutes late in arriving here.

It is believed that the nut was cut off by a freight car jumping the track as one had passed a short time before.

ESCAPED FROM AN OFFICER.

William Powell, a Slippery Article, Was Caught in a Freight Car.

William Powell, who is a slick and bad article, was caught in a freight car at the Boston & Maine freight yard on Sunday night. Powell had tapped a barrel of rum in the car and had a jug under the faucet.

As soon as Powell saw the officer coming, he smashed the jug of rum on a rail and succeeded in making his escape from Officer Anderson, who made the discovery of Powell's presence in the car.

OBSEQUIES.

The funeral services of Mrs. William McMullen of Woodbury avenue were held at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the church of the Immaculate Conception of this city, the Rev. J. F. Creedon reading the services. Interment took place in Calvary cemetery.

JUSTICE

Is portrayed as a woman, yet her sex might complain that they get scant benefit of her powers. There is little justice, it would seem, in the suffering that many women undergo month after month.

Justice acts upon the legal maxim that ignorance of the law cannot be pleaded in mitigation of punishment. It is ignorance which causes so much womanly suffering. Ignorance of the requirements of womanly health; ignorance on the part of those who attempt to cure and fail, and ignorance of the fact that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures womanly diseases. It establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness.

"When I first wrote to Doctor Pierce concerning my health," says Mrs. Mallie J. Carpenter of Lincoln, Cumberland Co., N. H., "I was so weak I could only write a few words until I would have to rest, was so weak I could hardly walk. I could not express my suffering from dimness of sight, palpitation, shortness of breath, black spots or else shining lights before my eyes, terrible headache, numbness in my arms and hands and tongue, also my jaws would get numb, constipation, falling of the uterus, disagreeable drains, soreness through my bowels. In fact I was diseased from head to foot. Now I can do my own washing and cooking. I can take a ten quart pail in one hand and a six quart pail in the other (full of water) and carry both one fourth of a mile and never feel tired. I used thirty bottles of Favorite Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery and twenty five pills of Pleasant Pellets."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

At the Mardi Grass ball given by Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Hill Feb. 19th, in Washington, Mrs. Hackett, wife of the assistant secretary of the navy, wore a beautiful dress designed in honor of the navy. It was white satin. Across the front were the flags of the president, secretary, assistant secretary, admiral, rear admiral and captain commanding. In a bunch of roses on the left shoulder was a commodore's flag in honor of officers of that rank upon the retired list. The marine corps was designated by a handsome siglet and the cap ornament. On either side of the skirt was a broad panel of navy blue with a border of gold lace. Upon one panel were arranged the devices designating every grade or corps of the service. Upon the other were appropriate insignia of the marine corps. The warrant officers were represented in appropriate manner upon a panel dependent from the waist, as also were the various petty officers. A feather with appropriate insignia worn in the hair also showed the wearer to be of the navy. The general effect was pleasing, being, as it was designed to be, a tribute to the United States navy.

BLOOD

We live by our blood, and on it. We thrive or starve, as our blood is rich or poor.

There is nothing else to live on or by.

When strength is full and spirits high, we are being refreshed, bone muscle and brain, in body and mind, with continual flow of rich blood.

This is health.

When weak, in low spirits, no cheer, no spring, when rest is not rest and sleep is not sleep, we are starved; our blood is poor; there is little nutriment in it.

Back of the blood, is food, to keep the blood rich. When it fails, take Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil. It sets the whole body going again—man woman and child.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.
